RINGS.—It is a pity that the symbolism of rings is dying out, or dead. When I was a boy, it was the fashion for men on the lookout for wives, to wear a ring on the first finger of the left hand; if they were engaged to be married, they wore the ring on the second finger; if married, on the third; and on the fourth they resolved upon bachelorhood. Thus the most sensitive and modest young lady might always with ease detect the matrimonial disposition of a man by a glance. But this fashion being gone, a girl has to make love to man before she can ascertain his views. This is hard upon the girl, and often very hard upon the man. The fashion should be revived.

There is a man with a cake doing a thriving business in Michigan. The papers throughout the State are exposing him, and in a short time, no doubt, he will be compelled to seek pastures new. He comes in town to start a bakery, and brings a sample of his work along in the shape of a large and elegantly-frosted cake. Some hitch takes place about the lease of the bake shop, and he concludes to raffle off the cake. The raffle takes place; the splendid cake is won, and perhaps kept on exhibition for a day or two. Then it is cut up or a party is arranged to assist in its consumption. When they attempt to cut up the cake, then comes the fun. They find that it is made of wood tastefully frosted.

The best recipe we know, if you want to be miserable, is to think about yourself, how much you have lost, how much you have not made, and the poor prospect for the future. A brave man, with a soul in him, gets out of such pitiful ruts and laughs at discouragements, rolls up his sleeves, whistle and sings, and makes the best of life This earth was never intended for a paradise, and a man who rises above his discouragements and keeps his manhood will only be the stronger and better for his adversities. Many a noble ship has been saved by throwing overboard its most valuable cargo, and many a man is better and more humane after he has lost his gold.

We have tried the experiment in our garden of mixing the rich, heavy, solid, clayish earth with sawdust, and find it makes the soil loose, giving a chance for water and air to penetrate preventing the hard caking on the top, which before was a most objectionable fault, while the plants and seeds grow better than ever before. We ought to mention that we have also added some bone-dust, and moistened all with a weak solution of nitrate of potash.

Fire-Proof paper for valuable documents may be made from one part vegetable fiber, two parts asbestos, one-tenth of a part borax, nine-tenths of a part alum. A fire-proof ink for the same may be made from 850 grains graphite, 80 grains tincture of galls and indigo casmine.

There is a pocket telephone stretched across from the house of a young man in this town to the window of his sweetheart just opposite. They are to be married soon, and it is a touching sight to watch the little sparrows perch on the string and peck at the taffy as it slides along between their toes.

It is proposed to abolish capital punishment and utilize murderers as a dispensatory for the afflicted, using them up gradually in skin grafting and similar operations.

"It's only a Spring opening, ma," explained that awful boy, as he exhibited his torn trowsers after a leap over the picket fence.

Your benevolence should seek the poor before the poor seek your benevolence.

It is counted an honor to live like princes, but it is a greater honor to give like princes.

If Congress should remove the tax on matches it won't cost as much to get married, will it?

Cockroaches became such a nuisance in the Sandwich Islands that frogs were imported to eat them up.

Agriculture is the art of arts; without it man would be a savage, and the world a wilderness.

Our happiness does not consist in being without passions, but in having control of them.

In the main, birds of a feather fight together.

The gold value of the legal tender dollar is 83.81 cents.

THE PALACE CLOCK.

The four dials, facing the four points of the compass, are each so large that there are but few rooms in London that would contain one of them on the floor. They are more than 22 feet in diameter; the framework, figures and divisions are of iron, and the spaces filled in with opaque glass. The figures are 2 feet high, and the minute-marks nearly 12 inches apart—little as we may think it when looking up at the clock from Palace Yard. The minute-hand, with its counter-weight and central boss, is about two hundred weight. This, however, is little more than one-third as much as the original hand designed by Sir Charles Barry, which was so elaborate and intricate, so full of angles and quirks that they interfered with the going of the clock. The present minute-hand is for the most part a flattened copper tube, and is 11 feet long without the counter-weight. During a heavy snow storm a few winters ago, the mixture of snow and rain that fell on it pressed so heavily on it as to stop the going. The hands of the four dials are, it is said, the largest in the world, except those of the Mecklin clock, which are, however, only hour hands, not comprising those which mark the minutes. Large clock-hands of course require the descent of heavy weights to set them going. Those at Westminster are indeed heavy. No less a depth than 170 feet in the clock tower is allotted for the descent of the weight. Going weights and striking weights together, they require 4,000 turns of a double manned winch handle to wind up. Sir Edmund said to the Horologists: "Various suggestions were made by ingenious people for dispensing with manual labor for winding; steam, water, the rise of the tide, and other things even more unlikely were recommended." My answer was that the winding and care of the clock would cost perhaps less than the interest on the automatic machinery or steam engines; that any such machinery would be liable to get out of order, and would, of course, require a man to attend to it however automatic it might profess to be. Therefore as I always prefer simple to complicated things, I prefer to have the winding done in the old fashioned way, running no risk of failure. I got over the difficulty of the maintaining power by directing the man to stop winding about a minute before each hour and quarter. As these are weights to set the noble clock going, so must there be a pendulum to regulate the motion when once produced, and it is a pendulum, in good sooth. It weighs nearly 700 pounds, is about 13 feet long to the center of oscillation, and 15 feet total length. The rod which holds it consists of a perforated iron tube inside one of zinc. Every beat of the pendulum has to regulate the motion of something like a ton and a half of metal, in the form of hands, counter-weights, and clock machinery, and yet so delicately is it suspended by a slip of spring steel that one single ounce placed upon it at a particular spot would affect the rate of regulation.

A Washington letter says: Recently Senator Burnside gave a dinner, and later in the evening a dancing party, to forty or fifty young people, to whose society he is devoted. The handsome widower from Rhode Island is a great favorite with the youthful element in the social world, and is never happier than when in some way adding to their pleasure. Senator Burnside grows young with age, if you can reconcile such a paradoxical expression. He is the best dressed man of the Senators, lives elegantly, drives a handsome T cart, drawn by a large, handsome horse superbly caparisoned. He is generally accompanied in his drives by some pretty girl and attended by a groom wearing a blue livery. He makes his polite attentions general, and I could name a half dozen young ladies who receive his kind civilities. By this wise measure he escaped an annoyance too common in our midst—that of having the announcement made of his engagement to this or his betrothal to that one without a shadow of foundation.

It's funny, but a soft palmed woman can pass a hot pie-plate to her neighbor at the table with a smile as sweet as distilled honey, while a man with a hand as horny as a crocodile's back will drop it to the floor and howl around like a Sioux Indian at a scalp dance.

The heat actually set free on a winter's day by the Gulf Stream is enough to warm up the whole column of atmosphere resting on France and the British Isles from freezing point to summer heat.

The following explanation of a legal term is offered by a Teutonic member of the police force: "Ven I gits me out a habeas scorpious, I can chust so vell catch a man where he ain't as where he is."

LORENZO DOW.

The country is full of stories about him to this day. Old men never weary of repeating them. A few specimens may be given. Some fowls had been stolen, and Lorenzo pledged himself to detect the culprit. He put the bird under an inverted kettle in another room, bade the men enter the room separately and assured them that when the thief put his hand on the kettle the cock would crow. They did as directed, but no report came from the prisoner; but on examining the men's hands one of them was found unsoiled, and its owner was declared the thief. The surprised criminal, it is said, confessed his guilt. An ax had been stolen, and he spoke of the theft from the pulpit, and drew a huge stone from his pocket, threatening to hurl it at the head of the purloiner, who incontinently dodged, and thereby discovered himself.

In South Carolina, after preaching on one occasion, he announced another sermon to be delivered twelve months from that day. The singular man kept his promise to the hour. On the day previous to its fulfillment he met a colored boy whose marvelous performance on a long tin horn attracted his attention, and he asked his name. "Gabriel, sah," was the answer. "Well, Gabriel, have you been to Church Hill?" "Yes massa, I'se been dar many a time," Gabriel also knew the pine tree under which Dow was to preach, and was induced by promise of a dollar to hide himself among the thick branches. An immense concourse assembled. Dow preached a terrific sermon on the last judgment, and at a preconcerted signal Gabriel blew his trump with such alarming vigor that woman shrieked and fainted, men looked ghastly and cried for mercy, and all waited in agonized suspense for the crack of doom. Lorenzo watched the storm of terror with keen appreciation, and made a telling application of the event to the consciences of his hearers.

Overtaken by night on one occasion, he unceremoniously entered a house, and craved permission to stay all night. The woman reluctantly consented, and barred the door against further visitors. Soon her husband returned, when a man who was in the house when Lorenzo entered, hid himself in a large box under a mass of flax hatchelings. The husband, who had been drinking, was introduced to Dow, who, outrageously insisted, must raise the devil; not that he believed in a devil, but if there was one he wanted to see him. The preacher saw his opportunity, and said: "If you are determined to see him, open the door, put out the light, and stand out of the way, or he may take you with him. When he comes it will be in a flame of fire, and I warn you of the consequences." Lighting a bunch of brimstone matches, and muttering some unintelligible words, Dow then set fire to the flax under which the friend was hid, and cried out. "Come forth, thou evil one, and begone forever." Out jumped the fellow, enveloped in flame, and, with an unearthly yell, disappeared through the open door. To his dying day the sobered spouse maintained that Lorenzo Dow could raise the devil. He had seen him do it; he had seen and smelled Satan himself.

The bravery of a Roman stoic was displayed by Police Judge Tilden, of Cleveland, when he tried his son for stealing a coat from a juryman and found him guilty. It was a trying ordeal for the Judge, and when he referred to the sad spectacle of a father prosecuting his own son he burst into tears, while his powerful frame shook with the violence of his grief. It was a mournful scene and called for sympathy for the Judge in his affliction, not less than admiration of his courage in thus showing that love for his offspring could not stand in the way of his duty to the State.

A young man who was kicked off the doorstep, while endeavoring to serenade his girl, by an enraged papa, was too cautious to call him an old pirate, but he didn't hesitate to designate him as a freebooter.

Clouds beautify the sky and at times hide the sun, just to show how dependent upon it we all are. So sorrows beautify this life and seem to hide the face of God, to teach us how much we need him.

The old lady who believes every calamity that happens to herself a trial, and everyone that happens to her friends a judgment, is not dead yet.

A philosopher declares that the great need of the country just now is not politics, but an overhauling of last summer's white waistcoats.

THE CONSTITUTION

The S. F. Chronicle, true to its instincts, refused to publish the following letter from Postmaster Page, hence its publication in the S. F. Bulletin:

BODIE, April 9, 1879.

CHARLES DE YOUNG & CO.—GENTS:

Your favor of the 5th instant is before me, in which you desire to know the sentiment of the people in this locality in regard to the new Constitution, and also my own views on that subject. I think the people of Bodie are opposed to the adoption of the new Constitution. They fear a change, and seem to think the old Constitution good enough for them. They say that a proposed change in the fundamental law should be so clearly beneficial as to be accepted by the great majority of fair minded men without a question or a doubt. The fact that it is generally admitted that the new Constitution will, if adopted, be extremely injurious to all rich and prosperous men in the State, does not commend it to this community, for we have many citizens who hope to acquire wealth, and in that event they desire the protection of the law.

It has occurred to me that it is unwise to make a Constitution for the destruction of any class of our citizens. Besides it is not quite clear to me that the law which would destroy rich men would be useful to the poor. My experience is, that where those who have acquired wealth are unprotected, that there is no protection to those who have been less fortunate. In short, I am not quite prepared to vote to exchange our institutions for those of our sister Republic, Mexico. It would occupy too much space to call your attention to the numerous objections which have been suggested to this proposed Constitution, but I will mention one. The directors of corporations are made personally liable for all the frauds of the employees of the companies in which they act as directors. This is unjust. When directors have acted honestly and faithfully themselves, they should not be charged with the frauds and defalcations of others. This provision alone would deprive the miners of this and all distant mining districts of the services of responsible men in San Francisco to act for them as directors. It is difficult now to find the right men to act in that capacity, but if after giving their services for little and frequently no compensation, you impose upon them unknown penalties for which they are in no way responsible, all good men will refuse. The miners then will be compelled to live in San Francisco and be their own directors, or rely upon their individual resources to develop mines. The fact is, that most prospectors are poor men, and if they were deprived of the advantage of obtaining aid in San Francisco to open mines, the business would stop.

When you have prevented miners from combining capital by means of corporations by imposing such penalties as to prevent good men from acting as directors, and when you have in addition thereto prevented the public from buying and selling stock as provided in the new Constitution, you will have stopped all prospecting and thrown out of employment the larger portion of the miners of this camp, and for these reasons and many others they opposed the new Constitution.

J. H. PAGE, Postmaster.

The above masterly and truthful letter did not suit the "live paper," and Bodie being too important a place for an attempt at bulldosing, it was given the go by. Now, let the people of Mono stand by the old Constitution, and sustain Mr. Page's assertion that Mono will give one thousand majority against the new Constitution. Down with the monstrosity.

Henry H. P. Tudor, the horse-back tramp, who is tramping on horseback to Patagonia, arrived at Tuscumbia, Ala., April 21st, and rested one day. At Lynchburg, Va., he was joined by Dr Ayme, a surgeon, who accompanies him as a scientist. Having had some Patagonian experience in '49, we can assure them a warm reception; it will be their last tramp.

A girl named Francis Barnett, of Madison, Indiana, a beggar girl from her infancy, has just received the sum of $1,230 32 as a pension from the Government, her father, F. M. Barnett, a soldier in the 63d Indiana, having been killed at the battle of Resaca, Ga.

A terrible earthquake occurred in Persia on March 22d. Twenty-one villages were totally destroyed, and 922 persons, 2,660 sheep, 1,125 oxen, 124 horses, and 55 camels were killed. It is fortunate that some one was left to count the damage sustained.

The Southern Intelligencer, a paper recently started in Richmond, Va., by John R. Popham, Clerk of the United States District Court, claiming to be independent in politics, in a leading editorial nominate David Davis as Democratic candidate for President in 1880.

At Washington, on Monday last, Congressman Rush Clark, of Iowa, died suddenly after an illness of a few hours.

Reports indicate universal rejoicing throughout the country to-night over the President's veto. Salutes have been fired in all the principal cities.

ALPINE.—The S. F. Chronicle publishes a squib from Monitor, Alpine county, intimating that that county will give a majority in favor of the new Constitution. Perhaps it will, but we don't believe it will; but if it should, its entire vote will not amount to over 100—and they are not all going for the new novel. The Signal is in favor of the new Constitution for the purpose of having a new deal on County Judge, but we have no fears of Judge Griffith's health being impaired on that account. Alpine is cursed with a class that is always ready to do injury to any interest calculated to benefit the county, if individuals are to be benefited thereby; they don't want their neighbors to make one dollar unless they can make two; and this is the class of men that will vote for the new Constitution in Alpine county.

The Democratic majority has attempted to bulldose the President, in passing the Omnibus Army Appropriation Bill, but the President don't bulldose worth a cent, and he has sent to Congress his veto of the bill, with good reasons for doing so, as it contained provisions foreign to the main purposes of the bill, inasmuch as it repealed the election laws and withdrew the protection hetetofore granted to voters at elections for Federal officers. Had the Act been confined in its provisions to the legitimate purposes of the army, the President would have promptly signed it.

The Bullion, a new mining paper in New York, having suggested a national law requiring all gold and silver mining companies to make at least semi-annual public exhibits of their operations and conditions, and particularly of their exact product, its editor has received a letter from Secretary Sherman, who says that he will have the matter considered before next session of Congress.

LAW REPORTER.—One of our valued exchanges, is the Washington Law Reporter, a weekly pamphlet; containing decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court, Federal Land Office, and decisions of the principal Courts of last resort in the several States, and other legal intelligence. Published by John L. Ginck & Co., Washington, D. C.

At Agricultural Park, Sacramento Sunday, a colored boy, about fourteen years of age, ran around the track in good time, for such a youngster, of five minutes and fifty-five seconds.

PROCLAMATION.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

WHEREAS, THE CONVENTION, WHICH assembled at the City of Sacramento, on the 28th of September, A. D. 1878, to revise and change the entire Constitution of this State, agreed upon and submitted to the people for their ratification or rejection a

NEW CONSTITUTION FOR THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA;

And whereas, the law has fixed the first Wednesday of May, A. D. 1879, as the day upon which the people shall adopt or reject such new Constitution:

Now therefore, I, William Irwin, Governor of the State of California, do declare that on WEDNESDAY, MAY 7th, 1879,

there will be held an election, at which the people of the State shall vote to adopt or reject such Constitution.

All persons entitled by law to vote for members of the Assembly, shall be entitled to vote at such election in their respective election districts and not elsewhere.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The CHRONICLE Office is on the second floor of "Goodson's Building," east side of Main street, between Standard Avenue and Green street.

JOB PRINTING.—Job printing of the finest descriptions will be furnished at this office at Sacramento prices.

FRIENDLY ADVICE.—We must ask the indulgence of our little cotemporaries while we give them a little, and much needed advice, and they will do well to heed it. Brag is a good dog, but Holdfast is better. Small crafts should not venture too far from shore. They both have much to say about circulation and run of advertising, and promise to favor the public with an enlargement at an early day, and they say they have ordered "power-presses." Talk is cheap, but it takes considerable money to buy a power-press. Instead of enlarging, would it not be better to try the system of taking out their "dead" advertisements, and run the space with reading matter, and, also, give up "doubling." If they will follow our advice, in this particular, they can run much more reading matter without enlarging. It looks unhealthy to see a newspaper filled with dead or non-paying advertisements, and both of our cotemporaries are troubled with that sort of sickness. So soon as an advertisement runs its allotted time take it out; and never insert one without authority. If a man sees his advertisement inserted witout his orders, and does not intend to pay foe it, it is natural for him to think that others have been inserted in like manner, consequently the reputation of the paper suffers. Every advertisement in this paper is by authority, and each advertiser can vouch for the assertion. When our advertisements are ordered out, or expire by limitation, out they go. Again, if our cotemporaries would display more style in their advertisements it would be more to their credit, and pleasing to patrons. Some fine morning, when least expected, they will awaken to this.

UNDER WHICH KING?—Some of our firemen are becoming somewhat muddled respecting the head of our fire department. When the Babcocks first organized, they elected Major Jack Stratman Chief Engineer. The Major is in San Francisco. At the fire on Monday afternoon, we were told by our morning cotem., that "Chief" Kirgan managed the fire, etc. The same paper on the morning of the 1st., published a communication, in regard to fire matters, signed "James T. Slack, Chief." Now, the question is, Who is Chief—Stratman, Kirgan or Slack? To whom are the officers of the two companies to look for orders at a fire? Who has the authority to order the Hook & Ladder Co. to remove a building that might stand in the way of saving the town from destruction? The rolls of the two companies should be immediately sent to the County Judge—if they have not been so forwarded—and a time set for the election of a Chief Engineer and two Assistant Engineers—the candidate receiving the highest number of votes for Assistant, to be First Assistant. Having a fire department, we must naturally expect fires and alarms, and the Department should at once be placed under an efficient head. This having a new Chief at every fire is ridiculous.

FIRES.—About 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon the roof of Cullen & McDermott's Saloon on Main street, below the Postoffice, caught fire. Our fire companies were promptly on the ground, and the wisdom of organizing a Hook & Ladder Company was fully shown. On Wednesday evening the Department was called out again by the burning of some hay somewhere up town, but its services were not required. About 9 o'clock on Thursday evening one of the clerks in West & Bryant's stuck a miners candlestick, with a lighted candle, in one of the upper rooms in such a manner that it set fire to one of the rafters, but it was fortunately discovered in time to prevent a disastrous conflagration.

ACCIDENTS.—On Saturday evening last, W. H. Mills, of the Bodie Pharmacy, was shot in the left forearm, shattering the joint by the accidental discharge of a pistol in the hands of a friend. Mr. Mills has been attended by Drs Roe and Deal, and is recovering as rapidly as can be expected. On Tuesday morning a teamster named J. C. Seehorn, while coming into town with a load of wood, was thrown while trying to stop his frightened horses, and the wagon passed over his left leg below the knee, inflicting a compound fracture. Drs. Deal and Roe went to his assistance and we are glad to learn that he is getting along nicely.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. G. B. Hinkle will hold divine service at the School House to-morrow evening at 7½ o'clock. Sunday School at 2 o'clock P. M. All are cordially invited to attend.

Closing Quotations.

To carry out the theory to a solid conclusions, as heretofore advanced in these columns, it is only necessary to recite the history of Noonday. Whatever may become of the new Constitution, it is only necessary to make a real development or a sensation, of some kind, to advance the stock of a mine. In any other business, almost, a lawsuit about title would amount to a wet blanket. Noonday, however, fairly illustrates the case. The mine looks quite as well as it ever did, but the talk and anticipation indulged on every hand have served to keep the stock up and even advance it and increase the number of sales. It closed strong to-day at $2 50. Tioga, every way better located and developed, closed at $1 90. Standard was quoted once again on the San Francisco market; 10 shares sold at $34. The new stock of the Bulwer—100,000 instead of 60,000 shares—closed at $12, or about in proportion to the old. Summit at $2; Black Hawk at $2 10; Syndicate, $2; Bodie, $9 75; Mono, $3; Con. Pacific, $2 35; Belvidere is unaccountably off, closing at $1; Bechtel, 90 cts.; McClinton, ditto; Jupiter, 50c.; Dudley, 45c.; and so on down the line. No doubt the political agitation has much to do in a general way with stock stagnation, and between now and the 7th inst. there will be the best time to buy Bodie stocks that has occurred for some months past; but only the wise few will take advantage of it.

ELECTION PRECINCTS.—The following are the precincts and officers of election on Wednesday next.

Antelope.—Inspector, Joseph Carney; ney; Judges, R. G. Watkins and Lloyd Goodnow.

Bridgeport.—Inspector, J. W. Towle; Judges, A. J. Severe and D. Hays.

VOTE EARLY.—The polls will open on Wednesday next at 8 o'clock in the morning and close at sunset. Vote early, for you don't know what may happen to prevent you from voting. You may be taken seriously ill, or meet with a fatal accident before you could get to the polls in the afternoon, so vote early in the day while in the enjoyment of all your physical and mental faculties, and be sure to vote against the new Constitution.

AT MINERS' HALL.—There is to be a meeting to-morrow evening at Miners' Union Hall, to hear C. J. Beerstecher and W. P. Grace, of San Francisco, Kearney's ex-Delegates to the Constitutional Convention, who wish to enlighten the Bodieites on the beauties of the new Constitution—the great monstrosity of modern times.

LOOK TO YOUR INTEREST.—Every resident and property owner in Bodie and Mono county will vote against the new Constitution if he studies his own interests, as well as those of the people of the entire State. If the new Constitution is adopted our mining interests will be crippled

NEW TO-DAY.—Under New To-Day will be found the advertisements of Baxter & Co., Apothecary Hall; Bodie Pharmacy, Dr. Spinney, Bodie Bank, Henry Cohen, dry goods, fancy goods, etc.; Summers & Co., Central Market; WmBo ardman, notice of sale.

APRIL SHIPMENTS.—The shipments of bullion from this District from the 1st to the 30th of April amounted to $208,592 14, credited to the several mines as follows: Bulwer, $101,687 22; Standard, $82,417 41; Noonday, $12,981 46; Bechtel, $11,506 05.

IN TOWN.—Dr. Spinney, the great specialist of San Francisco, has arrived in Bodie, and opened an office at Rooms 17 and 18, Johnson's Bodie House, as will be seen by referring to his advertisement in another column.

FIRE.—At 7 o'clock this evening a defective stovepipe caused a slight fire in K. N. Barron's clothing store, Lower Main street. The firemen were promptly on hand.

BODIE PHARMACY.—W. C. Haight, a competent druggist, is in charge of the prescription department of the Bodie Pharmacy.

FINE STATIONERY.—Baxter & Co., of Apothecary Hall, have this week received a fine assortment of fancy and plain stationery, blank books, toilet soaps, etc.

ASSESSMENTS.—By referring to the advertisement of the Bodie Bank it will be seen that the Bank is prepared to collect dividends and pay assessments on stocks.

THE POLLS.—On Wednesday morning next the polls will open at 8 o'clock, and so remain until sundown.

MEETING.—The Pioneer Hook & Ladder Company will hold a meeting at the engine house to morrow evening.

THE BODIE MINES AND STOCKS

Developments and Movements During the Past Week.

The Stocks.

There has been some special interest manifested in the Bodie stocks, but more interest paid to the mines themselves, perhaps, than for some time past. The Standard Company are rapidly pushing the crosscuts on the 700 level, and in view of future wants or contingencies, they have set about the work of putting in place the large pumping machinery which has been lying around loose on the hill at the main hoisting works. It will require two or three months to cut out the foundation for the engine and get the entire works in good running order, but it is significant of the business-like programme of the Company—their confidence in the future of the great property—that such a costly establishment should be decided upon with regard to completion. What with the developments already made in the claim in a hundred places, and ore reserves in sight, these later and larger operations on the tapis mean a work of years, and all those interested in the district will feel encouraged to renewed energy and inspired to new hope and confidence. The management of the Dudley, Jupiter and Syndicate mines have concluded to erect pumping machinery on the Dudley sufficient to sink and prospect their claim thoroughly to a depth of 600 feet; steam hoisting works on the Jupiter of a sinking capacity of 1000 feet, and the insertion of air compressor power at the Syndicate for the purpose of pushing the main tunnel crossent work of exploration in that large claim. This adds interest to the district outlook, and will give employment to a goodly number of men in addition to those engaged. The Standard will keep the Syndicate Mill running, the Bulwer the Bodie, and the Noonday the Miners' Mill, so that the regular shipment of bullion will go on. It is not unlikely that a new mill will be erected during the present season, either by the Bulwer Company, or the Noonday; perhaps both will construct reduction works of their own in view of the good prospects of the Tioga Company, which may employ the Syndicate at an early day and indefinitely. The Bulwer Tunnel is rapidly approaching completion, and a mill may yet be built at the same for the joint interest of both the Standard and Bulwer mines. As for Bodie stocks, Mono stiffened up a little during the week, but the whole line has not varied much since the last issue of this paper, and it is not expected that they will until after the election, unless development of a sensational character occurs, when all will feel it, Constitution or no Constitution.

The Mines.

STANDARD CONSOLIDATED.

One of the most suggestive of items in connection with the developments in this immense mine, is the obtaining of quartz in the crossent west of the 700 level, which contains free gold visible to the naked eye. It is only a stringer, but the metal is carried down 300 feet deeper than anywhere else in the mine, is reassuring. No development of consequence otherwise was expected for several weeks to come, but the formation is getting better all the time, and the public need not be surprised to hear of an important development taking place any day, both as respects size and richness The north drift on the old main lode, as run on from the east crosscut in the new works, shows an immense ore body—at least six feet in the clear of clean ore that will mill over $100 a ton. It has been widening north for several weeks, and if it keeps on, Standard stock, no matter what it costs, will be worth more than any other mining investment on the coast. The crosscuts east from the main shaft south, new shaft, has cut a good ledge, and that east from the main south drift in the Bulwer side, is promising favorably. But the place of fresh interest, and curious withal, is the splendid showing of ore in the old mine above the 200 level, incline. It is destined to add immensely to the bullion products of the whole property, whereas it had been left behind all this time and has had but little or no attention paid to it. The original owners of the Standard ground—the old Bunker Hill parties—gouged out here and there—a good deal of ore which paid well in arastras, but they did no systematic or energetic, courageous work, and the result is a real bonanza handed over to the present proprietors. There is an important breadth of ground off east toward the Summit claim, which is also developing well through a crosscut east from the 300 level south of the old incline works.

TIOGA.

Crosscut west on the 520 level is in about 180 feet in formation very favorable. It is at an interesting point at present and will be attracting still more attention for several weeks to come. On the 320 level west, the four feet ledge referred to last week is drifted on both north and south, in all a distance of about 40 feet, the ledge holding its full width and prospecting as well. The drift north from main shaft, is in about 112 feet. A new carpenter shop is added to the conveniences of the works at the mine.

NOONDAY.

The north drift on 200 level is in 170 feet, and the winze recently started near that point, is down 12 feet. Ledge three feet wide in face and bottom, and ore estimated at $60 per ton. The east crosscut, 54 feet north of shaft, is in seven feet. The west crosscut, 22 feet south of shaft, is in 20 feet. South drift from shaft, on main ledge, is extended 30 feet from shaft; ledge 2½ feet in width. The joint shaft on North Noonday line, is down 50 feet, and the machinery therefor is arriving every day, and the Noonday end of the district is presenting an animated scene.

CON. PACIFIC.

The engine shaft is down 216 feet. Formation very favorable for progress and veins; a small vein of quartz has come into the shaft, showing by assay traces of gold. The crosscut from the bottom of winze on ledge No. 2 is in 36 feet. The rock is harder and indicates proximity to a ledge. It was expected to cut ledge No. 1 east in a distance of 40 feet. This question will be determined in a few days.

AURORA TUNNEL.

The future of this ground, as far as development is concerned, depends on the Dudley, which will have pumping machinery as soon as possible to sink to a depth of 600 feet, when the crosscut west, now in 335 feet, will be extended into the tunnel ground and directly under the present tunnel. This will drain the claim of water to a corresponding depth.

BODIE AND MONO.

There is the usual amount of drifting and crosscutting, and more or less mystery connected with it all, with little flurries in the stock. The "best hold" the companies could get on the public, would be in going deeper and developing the ground in a determined manner. "To this complexion must it come at last."

BLACKHAWK.

The only thing new and interesting in connection with the enterprise, is the winze in the north drift, 220 level, Warren ledge. It is down 24 feet and has developed ore of very high grade. The work elsewhere is going on as usual. The stock is likely to go higher before receding much further.

RED CLOUD.

There is nothing new in the way of development. Crossent, west, on 400 level is nearly 300 feet in length; passed through abundance of quartz, but of too low grade. Drift in main ledge, 250 level, showing about the same.

ADDENDA.

Shaft is down 465 feet. At 460 feet a station is being cut out for the purpose of inserting an engine to run Cameron pumps. Steam will be supplied from the present boiler. The ledge in the bottom of the shaft is of better grade of quartz, and the body is more compact.

BELVIDERE.

The drift north from the bottom of the winze on the Great Western ledge, is in 18 feet in the very rich ore. This is at a vertical depth of 250 feet. Some crosscutting is going on in a westerly direction.

JUPITER.

The drift south on the ledge developed in the east crosscut, 250 level, is in 26 feet in a three foot ledge, clean ore and well defined. East crosscut still extending. Steam hoisting works will be landed here in three weeks at furthest.

BULWER.

Drifting both north and south on the Stonewall ledge, 400 level, is going on—north 50 feet; south 40. Ledge broken, but generally improved. Ore is being hauled to the Bodie Mill as usual.

SYNDICATE.

Main tunnel south is now about 2080 feet, and the upraise to connect with the Osceola winze is under way. It is a part of the programme to put in an air compressor and patent drifts, run by power from the Syndicate Mill.

DUDLEY.

Crosscut west from 300 station, is in 335 feet. The water is not so free as before. The upraise on the ledge to connect with Aurora tunnel, is going ahead with better showing of ore.

RICHER.

The Superintendent has been off to Bridgeport on the Noonday suit and figures and condition of mine have not been obtained. Work, however, is going on as last week.

MCCLINTON.

Only thing of interest is the preparation for crosscutting on a deeper level than ever before—nearly 700 feet, mostly vertical.

SOUTH BULWER.

Crosscutting from the 436 level is underway, with nothing new as yet to report in the way of development.

DEFIANCE.

The shaft is nearly ready to receive the steam hoisting works, which are on the way

BOOKER.

The work of straightening shaft is proceeding lively, and the pump and machinery are en route.

SOUTH BODIE.

Station on 500 level not yet completed.

SUMMIT.

Main shaft is down 252 feet. No new development in shafts.

BECHTEL.

The main shaft is down 215 feet. It will be sunk to 300 before crosscutting. The drift, north and east from the 102 level, is in 160 feet. The ledge matter is improving.

Monumental Park Cleveland was lighted Tuesday night for the first time with the Brush electric light, the effect being much more brilliant with twelve lights than formerly with 110 gas jets, and the cost for lighting $100 less than by gas.

THE CHRONICLE.

THE CHRONICLE.

BODIE, MAY 3, 1879.

RIVER ON FIRE.—On the 20th of April the large pipe at the bottom of East River which carries petroleum from the Hudson River Railroad Depot to Hunter's Point, Long Island, burst and the surface of the river was covered with oil. Some little boys threw a lighted match into the stream, and the whole river front for about a mile was soon ablaze. The scene from Long Island shore was truly gorgeous. From a point in the channel between Ravenswood and Blackwell's Island, extending southerly for about a mile, the surface of the water was a livid sheet of flame. It was a scene that held thousands of people spell-bound. It appeared as if subterranean fires had burned through the mass of water and conquered the opposing element. The glowing flames jumped and roared along the liquid surface. Sometimes the central flames would be extinguished, leaving a darkened space surrounded by an annealed of fire. Then, like a flash of lightning, the entire area would be again lighted up, leaving an unbroken sheet of flame resting on the surface of the water. Fortunately, the flames were distant from the shipping or anything to feed upon. The fire being opposite Eightieth street, New York, the flames were fought by engines and propellers, but did not cease until the oil in the pipe was exhausted.

The plucky little school ma'ams of America deserve a great deal of credit, and very often they get it. Recently they were the subject of discussion in the British House of Commons, and in reply to a sneering remark made by Mr. Mills as to their efficacy, Mr. Plunkett, a gallant Irishman, arose to their defense. He said he had been in the United States and there studied the subject, and expressed his opinion that "it would be a great benefit to this country if we could import two hundred or three hundred of those American woman teachers."

The salary of an ordinary dry goods clerk in Buenos Ayres is $75,000 a year. But while the guileless youth is considering how many flashy neck ties and nobby canes he could purchase at that rate, he should not banish the harrowing fact that neck ties sell for $200 each, and it's a poor excuse of a cane that will not fetch half a thousand. Buenos Ayres paper money glories in a discount which is hardly exceeded by the currency of Turkey.

A gentleman told us the other day, that if a barrel, with both heads out, were placed over a potato vine, and the earth filled in around the vine from time to time as it grew, it could be filled to the top, and would produce potatoes all the way up; that on kicking the barrel over, it would have a bushel or more of potatoes. Who has tried it? Who will try it?

Kerosene or coal oil mixed with water, in the proportion of a tablespoonful, or a little more, to a gallon of water, and applied to the foliage of plants infested with insects, has proved to be a valuable insecticide. For washing the bark or bodies of trees the proportion of oil to water could be considerably increased; probably doubled. Probably the liquid can be best applied with a syringe.

If dairymen wish to feed so as to produce better butter they learn from scientists, experiments of their own, education, life, Nature, that they must feed substances containing fatty and oily matters, such as corn, oil-meal, etc. But if, on the other hand, they are feeding for cheese, they learn from the same sources that it will be necessary to feed those grains which contain a large amount of gluten and vegetable casein.

Florida's biggest orange tree is thirty-seven feet high and eight feet five inches in circumference at the base.

"I hope I see you well," as the bucket said when it touched the water.

If you would be strong, conquer yourself.
